PRAYING HANDS

By Johan Terblanche

“Make this your common practice: Confess your sins to each other and pray for each other so that you can live together whole and healed. The prayer of a person living right with God is something powerful to be reckoned with.” (James 5:16 - Message)

When I read the Verse above, I asked myself who these other people are which I should pray for and how I can remember to pray for them.

I then remembered a lesson my daughter taught me a number of years ago. She in turn learned it from someone else.

When we pray we put our hand palms together. Looking at our hands we can be reminded whom we can pray. The fingers closest to us are our thumbs. The thumbs therefore remind us to pray for the people closest to us, our family, parents, brothers and sisters.

The next fingers are called the index fingers. Often, these fingers are used to point out things or people. These fingers remind us to pray for others like our friends, teachers, doctors and police. The middle fingers are the tallest and remind us to pray for those in authority like the rulers of our country and even our school principal.

The ring fingers are the weakest finger of all. This reminds us to pray for the weak ones. These weak ones include the sick, the poor, the hungry and those who have not yet received Jesus Christ into their lives. Lastly, we get to the little fingers. These fingers are the smallest and furthest away from our mouths. Our little fingers represent us and remind us to pray for ourselves and our own needs.

As can be seen others should always come first. We should always consider others and pray for them before thinking of ourselves. Let us pray for one another without ceasing and the Lord will bless us.
